A wonderful illustrated book about the fantastic world of container shipping

Illustrated book

Maritime Container Shipping

143 pages, more than 120 photos, bound edition

Available only in limited numbers.

Container shipping and globalisation are mutually dependent: without the success of the shipping container, there would be much less international exchange of goods, but for years the growth of global trade and the trend towards the division of labour has been fuelling the demand for international container transport.

At least 90% of goods traded globally are transported via the seven seas. This book paints a picture of the international network of container transport chains, describing the infrastructure of container liner shipping and explaining just how little cargo does not undertake a container ship journey between the ports of this planet. The reader is introduced to the key roles allocated to the crew, the goings-on inside container terminals, the nature of inland logistics and some of the essential facts about ship-building, environmental protection and safety in container shipping.

This book provides readers enthused by container shipping with a consummate blend between fascinating photography and well-rounded information. The publisher of the book is the Hanseatic Lloyd Reederei GmbH & Co. KG, Bremen.

- A highlight in this book are the so-called widescreen shots. These are 6 fantastic shots in landscape format, which are realised with a very seldom 6 x 17 cm camera and covering three pages.
- The unique photos originate from internationally famous photographers as well as many shipping companies and from private archives.
- The book in the extraordinary landscape format 32 x 25,8 cm with more than 120 photos or illustrations and 144 pages is printed in a special technique to generate spatial depth
- The book is available in German or English.

Right of revocation

You can revoke your contract within 14 days in text form (e.g. letter, fax, e-mail) without stating reasons or – if permission to use the corporeal object prior to expiry of the fixed term was granted to you – by returning the corporeal object. The revocation period begins after receipt of this information as to your rights in text form, however not prior to receipt of the merchandise by the recipient, and also not prior to fulfilment of our duty to furnish information in accordance with Article 246 § 2 in conjunction with § 1 Sect. 1 and 2 EGBGB (Introductory Act of the German Civil Code). To meet the deadline for revocation it is enough to send off the revocation or the corporeal object in due time.

The revocation must be addressed to: Hanseatic Lloyd Reederei GmbH & Co. KG, Contrescarpe 45, 28195 Bremen, Germany, Fax: +49-(0)421-24 338-28, containerbuch@hll-reederei.de

Consequences of the revocation

In the case of a legally effective revocation the performance items that have been received by both sides must be restituted and any benefits that may have accrued from these (e.g. interest) must be surrendered. If you are unable to restate the received performance item to us in whole or in part or only in a deteriorated condition, you must if need be compensate us for the loss of value to the appropriate extent. In cases in which permission to use corporeal objects was granted, this does not apply if the deterioration of the corporeal object is exclusively attributable to the examination of same – as would for example have been possible for you in a shop. Apart from this, you can avoid the obligation to compensate for loss of value for a deterioration that has arisen as a result of putting the corporeal object to use for the intended purpose by not putting the corporeal object to use as your property and by refraining from any actions that impair the value of the object. Corporeal objects that are capable of being sent as parcels or packages are to be returned at our cost and risk. Corporeal objects that are not capable of being sent as parcels or packages will be collected from you. Obligations to refund payments must be fulfilled within 30 days. The deadline begins for you when you send off your declaration of the revocation or the corporeal object, and it begins for us when same are received by us.

End of the information regarding the cancellation policy

I have taken note of the cancellation policy and the conditions of payment.

I agree to the recording of personal data for the processing of the business transaction.
